Penmanship is the technique of writing with the hand using a writing instrument. Today, this is most commonly done with a pen, or pencil, but throughout history has included many different implements. The various generic and formal historical styles of writing are called "hands" while an individual's style of penmanship is referred to as "handwriting"

Cursive (also known as script or longhand, among other names) is any style of penmanship in which some characters are written joined together in a flowing manner, generally for the purpose of making writing faster. Formal cursive is generally joined, but casual cursive is a combination of joins and pen lifts. The writing style can be further divided as "looped", "italic" or "connected".

Morris Fuller Benton designed Century Schoolbook in 1923 for elementary-school textbooks, so it's a highly readable font. It's one of the best fonts available with Microsoft Word. Because it's so legible, U. S. Supreme Court Rule 33.1.b mandates that all legal documents submitted to the Court be set in Century Schoolbook or a similar Century-style font.
