Jewish Questions - questions from Jews and about Judaism

Bauer asks the Jews: Have you, from your standpoint, the right to demand political emancipation? We ask the converse question: from the standpoint of political emancipation can the Jew be required to abolish Judaism, or man be asked to abolish religion? The Jewish question presents itself differently according to the state in which the Jew resides.

KARL MARX, "On the Jewish Question" (1843)

So, let's consider two questions: Was Jesus a Jew ethnically? And, was Jesus an observant Jew religiously? Was Jesus a Jew ethnically, or was his mother a Jew? Jesus clearly identified with the Jews of His day, His physical people and tribe, and their religion (although He strongly rejected the pharisaical reinterpretation of the religion).

The Jewish question acquires a different form depending on the state in which the Jew lives. In Germany, where there is no political state, no state as such, the Jewish question is a purely theological one. The Jew finds himself in religious opposition to the state, which recognizes Christianity as its basis.
